This contract covers only those items listed in the price schedule. It is the responsibility of the agency to ensure that other items purchased are invoiced separately. State agencies will place orders directly with the vendor (creating a PG in Finet) and make payments for the same on a PV referencing the original PG. Agencies will return to the vendor any invoice which reflects incorrect pricing.

Apple Computer, Inc. Year 2000 Compliance Statement

A year 2000 Compliant product from Apple will not produce errors processing date data in connection with the year change from December 31, 1999 to January 1, 2000 when used with accurate date data in accordance with its documentation, provided all other products (e.g., other software, firmware and hardware) used with it properly exchange date data with the Apple product. A Year 2000 Compliant product from Apple will recognize the Year 2000 as a leap year.

The Apple Year 2000 Compliance Statement refers to all Apple branded hardware and software products as originally delivered by Apple indicated as compliant on the web page. The Compliance Statement does not apply to product features that have been customized or altered, or third party add-on features or products, including items such as macros and custom programming and formatting features. Apple's Year 2000 Compliance Statement does not extend to third party software applications, whether shipped preinstalled on an Apple computer or installed using a program supplied by Apple. Apple does not test third party applications for Year 2000 compliance and encourages customers to consult third party publishers directly for information concerning Year 2000 compliance.

The Apple Year 2000 Compliance Statement and related Year 2000 information does not constitute a warranty or extend the terms of any existing warranty. The limited warranties provided for Apple's products, if any, are set forth in the documentation and license agreements that accompany the products. All information available from Apple concerning the Year 2000 is provided for the sole purpose of assisting our customers in their planning for the transition to the Year 2000.

Apple is continuing its efforts to make the Year 2000 information contained herein, as well as the information contained in its web sites and other communications, as accurate and up-to-date as possible; however, all Year 2000 information is provided without warranty. Apple will be providing updated Year 2000 information on its various products periodically through its web page at http://www.apple.com. Apple advises customers to consult the web page for product information updates. However, customers are encouraged to properly test their computer systems and related software to ensure that they have adequately addressed their Year 2000 issues.
